What's on your mind?

At Tales from the Campus you can ask!

- Are dorm showers gross?
- Am I Harvard material?
- Should I join a sorority?

- What do I need to bring for my dorm room?
- How long can I stay "undecided"?
- What should my essay be about?
- Can I afford a private school?
- What if my campus isn't diverse?
- How do I find scholarships?
- What's it like to live away from home?
- How important are test scores?
- What if I don't like my roommate?
- What is "work-study"?

Held during summer vacation, Tales From the Campus allows NYC high school students to meet with students of diverse backgrounds who attend or graduated from colleges and universities across the country. It's not always possible to visit every college you are thinking of attending, and while reading about a school or visiting the website can give you some idea of what it might be like on campus, they can't beat hearing about it from someone who actually went there.

The high school students attending Tales from the Campus will have the opportunity to sit down with college students and recent grads from the Multicultural Advertising Internship Program (MAIP) of the American Association of Advertising Agencies (AAAA), as well as TORCH alumni, who all enthusiastically represent their colleges and universities.

Tales from the Campus is open to all NYC high school students.
We have a limited number of spaces available so RSVP and save your spot today!
